

The Little Red Hen

4C Ho Yan Yan, Elmo

Once upon a time, a lazy cat, a lazy mouse, a lazy pig and a little red hen were born on a big farm. The little red hen liked to work, because she was more hard-working than the other three animals.

The little red hen went to grow some crops in spring and summer. The crops grew up very fast, so the little red hen could harvest the crops in winter. The three lazy animals slept on the bed, but the little red hen was ready to make bread! The lazy animals wanted to eat the bread so they woke up! The bread was ready to eat. The lazy animals were hungry and the kind little red hen gave the bread to them.

The story taught us to be hard-working.
